FIREWORKS CRACKLE AT N. Y. CONVENTION

LA FOLLETTE FORCES TO CONVENE TODAY

Independent Ticket Will Be Launched at Cleveland By Insurgents

CLEVELAND, O., July 4.—Senator Robert La Follette of Wisconsin takes the political stage here today.

The program for the first day of the National Convention of the Conference for Progressive Political Action, as announced by Arthur E. Holder, secretary of the National committee, follows:

Convention called to order at 10 a. m., Friday, July 4, by William H. Johnston, temporary chairman, who also will be permanent chairman.

Musical program.

Invocation by Rev. D. F. Bradley, pastor of Pilgrim Congregational church of Cleveland.

Reading of the call for the convention by Secretary Holder.

Keynote by Johnston

Keystone address by Chairman Johnstone

Address to progressive women by Mrs. Mabel C. Costigan of Denver and Washington, wife of Edward P. Costigan, of the Federal Tariff commission.

Address by Senator Henrik Shipstead, farmer-labor party, Minnesota.

Recess for lunch.

Afternoon session.

Report of the credentials committee.

Election of permanent officers.

Address by Senator Lynn J. Frazier, of North Dakota.

Address by Edward Keating, manager of "Labor," published in Washington.

Address to progressive business men by W. T. Rawleigh, millionaire patent medicine manufacturer of Freeport, Ill., head of the La Follette committee in Chicago, which recently circulated petitions asking the Senator to run for the presidency as an independent.

If the credentials committee should not be ready to report when the afternoon session begins, consideration of its report and election of permanent officers will be taken up after the addresses.

La Follette Adherents In California Action

LOS ANGELES, July 4.—Organization of La Follette adherents throughout California is well under way. It is stated by Chairman M. O. Graves of the County Central committee here.

Other officials of the committee are A. B. Richey of Pasadena, vice-chairman; Mrs. E. G. Qually of Highland Park, secretary; A. W. Frye of the Labor bank, treasurer.

Chairman Graves said that there was a constant succession of people coming in to sign the roll.

"Over a dozen clubs have been spontaneously formed," said Mr.

TWO SUSPECTS IN IAP DEATHS HELD

Alleged Gamblers Arrested In Probe of Double Feud Killing

LOS ANGELES, July 4.—The slaying of M. Yoshioka and Kacheme Igarashi has culminated in the arrest of two Japanese members of the homicide squad. The prisoners are I. Ishida and S. Tashiro, said to be gamblers and believed to have been members of the "party" at which the two slain men were last reported alive.

Detective Lieutenants Oker and Stephens, who made the arrests in conjunction with Officers Steckle and Bowen of the Chinatown detail, admit they have no positive information connecting their prisoners with the slaying, but declare they are certain these men know who the slayers are.

The bodies of Yoshioka and Igarashi were found June 20 at Los Angeles harbor, not far from Fort McArthur.

First Letter by Air Mail Service Reaches Glendale

To Mr. and Mrs. John Roman, of 515 Central avenue, goes the honor of having received via air mail, the first letter to reach Glendale from Chicago carried under the new schedule. The letter was sent by John J. Roman, their nephew, who is in the collection department of the Chicago postoffice. John J. Roman, in his letter, says he and his family are sending greetings by air to commemorate the new service. The letter was mailed in Chicago on Tuesday night, and reached here yesterday, cutting the time by three days of ordinary mail service. The postage rate is 16 cents an ounce from Chicago to the coast.

QUIET MARKS FOURTH AT CAPITAL

America and Coolidge Both Celebrate Birthdays In Sane Fashion

By EDNA MARSHALL
Special Correspondent of The Glendale Evening News, Copyright, 1924

WASHINGTON, July 4.—The safest and sanest Fourth of July in the history of the country probably will be celebrated at the White House today, where even the combination of a presidential birthday and Independence Day will not call forth a flicker of untoward gaiety.

Not a skyrocket or multi-colored pinwheel, not a garden party, nor even a cruise on the Mayflower will drive home the fact that Calvin Coolidge and the nation over which he presides were born on the same day of the month.

It just happened that he was born on the Fourth of July, the president suggested to inquisitive reporters who were trying to fix up a gala occasion for him on the two-fold holiday. He could not help it—and the president almost smiled—but there was no use getting excited now.

Must Leave Early

He has, however, he admitted, toyed with the idea of asking one or two of his old pals to drop in for a bite to eat in the evening. But even that much of a party must be ended by 10 o'clock to fit in with the president's habitual bedtime.

Not so calm, however, are the folk up in Vermont, where Calvin Coolidge frolicked when a boy, word came down today. There, Vermonters are planning the high spot of their campaign to secure the president's re-election, and there, said Earl S. Kinsley, in a telegram, Little Old Plymouth, the president's birthplace, will show Senator La Follette how wrong he is in his announcement that the independent or third party movement to be launched in Cleveland on July 4, will "give that day a new significance in our national life after this year." Plymouth beat the Cleveland movement to it, his wire said, "because July 4

Fresno Man Appointed To Dry Force Vacancy

LOS ANGELES, July 4.—William G. Walker, chief field deputy of the internal revenue office at Fresno, who was recently selected to succeed H. H. Dolley, former agent in charge of the federal prohibition agents in California, will arrive here next week to assume the position. He will maintain offices in San Francisco and Los Angeles. The appointment was made by Prohibition Director S. F. Rutter.

Jury Thinks Dorris Fired Fatal Shots

LOS ANGELES, July 4.—Henry D. Meyer and Mrs. Charles W. Dorris came to their deaths by gunshot wounds, probably inflicted by Dorris, was the verdict of the coroner's jury. Further investigation of the slaying was recommended. Dorris refused to talk today, but declared he will testify freely at his preliminary hearing July 10.

Amateur Bull Fight
Era Opens in Mexico

MEXICO CITY, July 4.—The amateur bull fight season has been opened with the beginning of the rainy season, during which the professionals declare a holladay.

It is a sport beloved of all Mexicans, but foreigners in particular like it, because it has all of the thrills of a real fight except that the horses are not gored. The participants are youngsters who some day hope to take their place as professionals and reap incomes equal to those of the fistic champions in the U. S. A. Usually they are pupils of celebrated bull fighters.

Anxious to win fame quickly, they are unusually daring and frequently seriously injured.

FILM FOLK ARE CELEBRATING DAY

Colleen Moore Builds Dolls' House

By MARIAN MARSHAL
For Southland News Service.

HOLLYWOOD, July 4.—Perhaps the holiday in film land. Most of the stars are at the beaches or mountain resorts. Practically no work is being done at the studios.

Just a sidelight on the recreation and diversion of the movie queens is told by Pete Smith.
Here's his story:

Colleen Moore's hobby is her collection of dolls. They are of every variety and from every country, occupying a large room in her Hollywood home. For some time she has been having made a dolls' house which she plans to have complete in every detail. It is rapidly nearing completion to-

Electrically Lighted

It is lighted with electricity.
There are Oriental rugs on the floor and she has had made living rooms and bedroom suites in miniature that are exact duplicates of those in her home. The piano was presented to her by a studio cabinet maker. The flowers in tiny vases look almost real and the lamps are miniature masterpieces. The open fireplace will burn real matches and the bath and kitchen will be equipped with porcelain attachments. She will have running water in the house as well as the fountain in the garden. Miniature trees and shrubs will be part of the landscape gardening.

The plumbing work has proved the most difficult and has caused the greatest delay but she expects it to be ready at the same time that the garden is completed. She then hopes to have the most complete dolls' house in the country.

OUT-TALKS WOBBLES

SAN PEDRO, July 4.—Sergeant William Webber, champion of Americanism in the harbor district and anti-Wobbly speaker, won a single-handed oratorical victory last night over a half dozen speakers representing the Civil Liberties society when the sergeant mounted a step ladder and challenged their every statement.

The war of words became an endurance contest which lasted four and one-half hours, it is reported. One radical was arrested when he made slurring remarks about the police department.

FIGHTS FOR LIFE

SAN BERNARDINO, July 4.—Charley Carlson, aged 82, is celebrating the Fourth here today by recuperating from his third operation.
He is a man of great physical strength, having worked in a stone quarry in his youth and he says there are many more Fourths of July for him to celebrate.

HOLY ROLLER HELD

UPLAND, July 4.—Mrs. Victoria Hotman, leader of what is commonly known as the Holy Rollers here, will be tried July 10, on a charge of disturbing the peace, before Judge George R. Crane.

At her preliminary she announced the Holy Ghost would appear as a witness in her behalf. People who have visited the Pentecostal meetings here allege that young men and women lay on the floor, rolling and gurgling in an unintelligible jargon which keeps the neighborhood awake.

MAN ELECTROCUTED

ONTARIO, July 4.—Funeral services will be held tomorrow for D. B. Kearney, aged 39, an

COMMENT That's All

The Glorious Fourth
A Day Of Dedication
La Follette's Drive
Time To Celebrate

By Gil A. Cowan

Bang, boom, blah! Peaceful slumber this glorious Fourth of July gives way to young America's demonstration that life and liberty are with us.

From many rostrums this day the Declaration of Independence of these United States of America is recited again and again.

La Follette's speech is a good one, but it is not the only one.

It is a good speech, but it is not the only good speech.

It is a good speech, but it is not
the only good speech.

It is a good speech, but it is not
the only good speech.

It is a good speech, but it is not
the only good speech.

It is a good speech, but it is not

MILK BOOST DUE TO HAY SHORTAGE

Farmers Charge Creameries
Higher Prices as Cost
Of Feed Climbs

Lack of rainfall throughout the state last season, which resulted in a short hay crop, has made it necessary for the creameries to pay farmers more for their milk in order to enable the farmer to keep busy, declared H. M. Foell, local manager of the Crescent Creamery company.

"We have to increase our price to the farmer in order to enable him to stay in business in the face of tremendous loss, and to keep the milk industry in the state," said Mr. Foell. "Alfalfa hay is costing around $27 a ton today, and may go higher."

"It costs a farmer $8 a month more to keep a cow than it did before. The shortage of rain all over the state last season cut the hay crop, so that it will soon be necessary for the farmers to ship in hay, which will mean a higher cost per ton to them."

Many Cattle Killed

"Grain prices have gone up, too. Another item was the slaughtering of a number of dairy herds during the foot and mouth disease. At that time there was not such a heavy demand for milk and the market did not notice the shortage. Now there is a big demand for all milk products, and there is also a shortage in the supply."

The price of milk has been advanced to 17 cents a quart, 10 cents for pints, and 17 cents a half pint for coffee cream. The price will continue as long as the present prices are paid to farmers, Mr. Foell said.

All windows at the local postoffice will be closed to-day on account of the Fourth of July, Postmaster D. Ripley Jackson has announced. There will be no deliveries by carriers, he said, while the usual Sunday collection schedule will be carried out in gathering mail from letter boxes in the business district.

Albert Cornwell, a member of the firm of Cornwell & Kelty, and W. P. Potter, associated with the Bentley Lumber company, will leave this afternoon for Bishop and June Lake, on a fishing trip that will last for a week or ten days. Reports from that vicinity indicate fish are biting good, Mr. Cornwell said. A new road to June Lake was recently completed, which makes the lake only 50 miles' drive from Bishop.

Glen Oaks Boulevard Will Be Constructed

The Glen Oaks boulevard to Pasadena, connecting that city with Glendale and Burbank by way of Fourth street, is to go right on through, according to information received from John R. Powers by President J. H. Randall of the Fourth Street Improvement association.

A new and larger steam shovel has been ordered by the Glen Oaks syndicate, according to Mr. Powers, so that the road may be pushed to completion in record time.

CHURCH TO MARK DOUBLE BIRTHDAY

Baptists Will Celebrate at Anniversary Services
Sunday, July 6

Coincident with the growth of the city of Glendale is the growth of the First Baptist church at the corner of East Wilson avenue and South Louise street, which will on Sunday celebrate the twentieth anniversary of the church, and the fifth anniversary of the coming of Rev. Ernest E. Ford to the pastorate.

The celebration will be most significant and will be featured by the plans the church is making for a building program of $175,000, which will provide an addition to the present equipment.

"The Friendly Years" will be the subject of the message given by Mr. Ford at the morning worship on Sunday. In addition there will be greetings from the various departments, represented by George McLeod, A. J. Maxwell, Roy L. Kent, Mrs. Park Arnold, Willard Kiehl and Rev. Eugene Haines, a former pastor.

At this service communion will be celebrated and new members welcomed.

Another anniversary program will be given at night at the service beginning at 7:45 o'clock. The subject for this service is announced as "Our Church in the Community and State." Speaker will be E. F. Sanders, secretary of the Chamber of Commerce; Col. John D. Fraser, chief of police; Rev. J. B. Fox of the city mission society of Los Angeles, and Dr. David Foster Estes, formerly professor of New Testament interpretation at Colgate university.

Committee to Select Site of New School

The school committee named by citizens of Verdugo Woodlands to secure from the Board of Education a school in that section will make a survey of available sites the first of the week, reports W. L. Twining, chairman.

The committee has taken from the Haddock-Nibley company a thirty-day option to purchase for $4000 an acre the five-acre tract owned by this firm just above Rossmoyne-town, comprising 530 feet along Verdugo road.

Serving with Mr. Twining on the Verdugo Woodlands school committee are W. A. Hall, T. B. Nichols and A. E. Sauter.

Leaves for Feather River Camping Trip

Intent upon spending at least a week fishing in the Feather River country in Northern California, A. E. Nichols of 322 Fairview street, left Glendale yesterday with a complete layout of fishing and camp equipment. Mr. Nichols will camp along the shores of Feather River and plans to penetrate the canyon to the best fishing spots to be found.

Daily Greeting To News Readers

Thou art the Opener, open Thou the door;
Thou art the Teacher, teach my soul to soar;
No human masters hold me by the hand;
They pass away—Thou bidest evermore.
—Whitley Stokes (from Omar Khayyam)

CATERING TO THE STOMACH

How much of our lives we spend in eating, preparing food, planning what we shall eat and earning money to buy food. If only we could be released from the necessity of eating, how much more we could accomplish. The raw food devotees may have the right idea. If there were no food to cook in the home and no greasy or sticky dishes to wash, housekeeping would be reduced to child's play. Think of a kitchen without a range!

We could all live more sensibly and be more healthful without going to such dietetic extremes as eating no cooked food. Foods more simply prepared and fewer of them at any one meal would be more acceptable to the average digestive system and give the cook time for more important things.

The flavor of almost any vegetable cooked simply in a little water, with the addition of a little butter just before serving cannot be excelled by preparing the vegetable any other way. But the average cook cannot restrain herself from disguising this vegetable entirely by dressing it in sauce or cheese or some other outlandish concoction. She makes herself work, she spoils the flavor of the vegetable and she makes it more indigestible. And so many vegetables are palatable served raw as salads that the time and the heat spent in cooking them are wasted, especially in hot weather when we crave cold, green food.

There are so many ideas and fads as to diet. Today we are told to eat certain foods and certain combinations. Tomorrow we learn that this is all wrong. But one thing is certain. Most people eat too much. Nearly every one could adopt a simpler and a lighter diet and in consequence have a healthier body, a clearer brain and more time and money for other things.

When the stomach or some other organ begins to rebel at overwork or cruel treatment it is time to adopt a more rational diet. Most of the ills that attack us at middle age are due to faulty diet. It is up to the one who wishes to live and enjoy life a while longer to right about face, find out what foods and food combinations he needs and then persist in his reform. Overcoming an unnatural appetite benefits the body and it strengthens the will power also.

COMRADESHIP ON THE ROAD

A generation ago it was not only an experience but a feat to cross the continent. Now people are going back and forth between the Atlantic and the Pacific countless, endlessly. Especially they are coming toward the west by the hundreds and the thousands. The railroads are bringing their quota in many-section trains, and thousands of others are driving the family car and making a camping excursion of the trip to the west.

Some prefer the trains as a swifter, more comfortable and less strenuous way to reach California. Others prefer the leisurely auto trip and the camaraderie of the road. The auto camp is now an American institution, and towns and cities are famed, by the transcontinental tourists, according to the accommodations and the conveniences they provide for their motor-tourist guests.

Acquaintances are made on the train in a cross-country journey, but friendships are formed on the road. One really learns to know people when one travels with them day after day on the road and lives with them night after night in auto camps. There is a spirit of helpfulness, of informality and democracy among those who travel together on the road that is to be found nowhere else.

To get the greatest amount of pleasure with the least inconvenience and effort out of a trip across the continent one should motor by short stages, stopping at hotels en route to rest. In this way one can really see the country and get acquainted with the people and the cities.

NEGATIVE PEOPLE

Negative people are usually unpleasant. They are not strong enough to make themselves heard and felt positively, and they have too much self-conceit to be silent, so they are negative. They are not bright enough to have ideas of their own or to inaugurate reforms of any kind. The only way they can make themselves felt is to oppose what some one else proposes. You will find them in all walks of life, among people of high and low degree.

Not everyone who opposes some movement or measure is a negative person. We can have our own opinions, we may be conscientious and yet be in the minority. But people who oppose everything from the word go; who say "no" as soon as anything is proposed, are negative.

These negative people are the great enemies of progress. They may be in the minority, they almost always are, and yet their voices are heard and they slow up the works. You can not judge a man by one instance, but when you hear him say "no" to any and every sort of proposition; if he is against everything he does not himself propose, he is a dyed-in-the-wool negative.

The negative man never wins friends, except among his fellow-negatives. It were better for him if he remained unheard, for he only makes himself obnoxious and accomplishes nothing other than to hinder those who are progressive. Be positive once in a while if you can. If you cannot, it were better to remain in obscurity.

When Darwin pointed out that our ancestors worshiped carved bones, he doubtless thought the practice was long since extinct; but he would roll over in his grave if he could hear the riders of the "galloping dominoes" address fervent petitions to their bony steeds.

While a $35 casting rod and a classy fly may be "collegiate," you can get a heap o' fun out of a 10-cent cane pole and a can of worms.

The sick man is credulous. He will accept, as the truth, any statement that promises hope of cure. That's why quacks flourish.

Speaking of exercises, riveters should play chess and chess players should rivet.

Trashy candy, supplied from school cafeterias, is not considered a wholesome lunch for school children.

THE NOMINATING MAELSTROM

The Child

By DR. FRANK CRANE

A married couple who fall out, drift apart and come into more or less hostility are apt, both parties, to be too egocentric.

The wife thinks of her outraged feelings, her bruised self-respect, her rights which have been denied.

Her friends fan the flame of her resentment. Often her mother, quick to champion her child's cause, urges her on to separation or divorce.

The husband works himself up into a like exasperation. So the quarrel rolls on like a snowball, growing larger as it rolls.

Permit me in all politeness to ask—"What if it?"

Also, "Who are you?"

Suppose your heart is smashed and your dream shattered and this and that other tragic consequence at hand. I, speaking for Destiny, or Nature, or Mankind in general, ask, "Well?"

For Nature is through with you anyway. What Nature intended was

The Child.

The only reason she kindled the sex fires in you, the only reason she threw over you both the glamor of romance and filled you with all those roseate visions, was

The Child.

And, thundering about your rights and wrongs in mouthings tirades, suppose you stop and concentrate a bit upon the one vital and determining factor in this case which you seem to have forgotten—

The Child. Let him have the spotlight.

You've had your fling, and if you have made a mess of it, take your medicine. But what about the little being you brought into the world?

Has he no right to a mother's care, a father's protection, and the environment of concord between the two?

If you have not succeeded in working out your own happiness, how would it do to give your Child a chance?

In every divorce suit there should be three lawyers—one for the plaintiff, one for the defendant and a third for the only party to the case that really matters, the Child.

Today's Poem

Only of thee and me the night wind sings,

Only of us the sailors speak at sea,

The earth is filled with wondered whisperings

Only of thee and me.

Only of thee and me the breakers chant,

Only of us the stir in bush and tree;

The rain and sunshine tell the eager plant,

Only of thee and me.

Only of thee and me, till all shall fade;

Only of us the whole world's thoughts can be—

For we are Love, and God Himself is made

Only of thee and me.

Love me more and powder less?

HIS MISFORTUNE

A large map was spread upon the wall, and the teacher was instructing the class in geography.

"Horace," she said to a small pupil, "when you stand in Europe

The Ravings Of a Grouch

I have always prided myself on being a patriotic citizen, and when I look around at some of my neighbors and note their lack of loyalty to their country, it makes by blood boil. When I look back at the men who founded this nation and those who fought to preserve it, it seems to me the least we can do is to be good citizens.

Washington established this nation for us, Lincoln saved it for us, and some do not appreciate what they did. Some do not even take the time to think for a minute what the Fourth of July means, what it stands for, why we celebrate it. To some the Fourth means firecrackers and noise; to others it is merely a holiday, a time to enjoy themselves as they see fit. Very few observe the birthday of our nation as it should be observed.

If I were a parent or a teacher, I should try to instill in the minds of my children the fact that the Fourth of July means something besides fireworks, sodapop and peanuts. I should try to teach them how narrowly we escaped the thrall of a despotic king, and with what agony our country was founded. I should tell them that we owe something to the memory of the men who gave us our freedom and founded our nation. I would show them that only loyalty to their country and respect for their flag could pay the debt they owe to the men of the revolution.

If I had my way, the men and women who sneer at the United States and belittle our government and our institutions would get mighty short shrift. I should try to devise some means of giving these people a taste of life under some other government. I would have a law that anyone heard favoring communism or bolshevism should be sentenced to a year in Russia. We Americans, as a nation, have had too easy a time of it. If we had to live in other lands for a while we would appreciate our native country more.

If my quiet way I have always tried to be a good citizen, and I think I may say that I have succeeded. I study questions that concern the nation, the state and the city, and I try to vote intelligently.

We may celebrate the Fourth of July with a "Hip Hurrah," but if we neglect our duties as citizens our observance of the day does not mean much. If I were in authority I would pass a law compelling those who do not take a patriotic interest in public questions and in elections, and those who do not show proper respect for the flag, to be banished from the United States.

Horoscope

Jupiter in benefit aspect dominates this day, according to astrologists. Venus and the Sun are in friendly sway.

This should be a lucky rule for most human activities and especially for buying and selling.

Merchants and manufacturers should benefit at this time when there is likely to be an unusually brisk demand for women's wear.

Again sharp changes in fashion are foretold and these will be most beneficial to modistes, milliners and bootleggers.

There is an encouraging sign for both men and women who are much in the public eye and deserve the stars of the screen.

Actors as well as political candidates should benefit from this rule of the stars.

Theatres are to have a year of prosperity, although there will be many changes of management and increased interest in community enterprises.

This should be a fortunate rule under which to seek work of any sort. It should be especially favorable for women.

All the signs appear to forecast great results from the reform efforts of women's organizations.

Money is to be comparatively easy during this entire month, if the stars are read aright, and this indicates average business prosperity, notwithstanding the long-credited effects of a presidential campaign on trade prospects.

Excitement among speculators in the wheat pits is forecast and until the eighth there may be much fluctuation in the market.

Persons whose birthday it is have the augury of a successful year in which they will be able to keep financial affairs in a satisfactory condition.

Children born on this day probably will meet with success all through life. Girls, however, should be safeguarded against unfortunate marriage. These subjects of Cancer often have experiences quite out of the usual run. They are generally fond of change and adventure.

Good Weather Helps In Tobacco Planting

LANCASTER, Pa., July 4.—Favorable weather the last week has enabled Pennsylvania growers to complete planting their tobacco. Many farmers are diversifying their crops so that no large acreage of any one crop demands attention at the same time. Thus disbursements for farm help are kept at a minimum.

Class L—Best specimen of Rosa Nell.

Children's sections will be as follows:

Youngest girl exhibitor.

Youngest boy exhibitor.

Credit to Baker

With due credit being given to Sol Gans for his activity in bringing about the parking ordinance for angular parking, Edwin H. Baker, of the Los Angeles Council, who makes his home at 5202 Rockland avenue, Eagle Rock, also deserves the appreciation of local people for the interest he has taken in the desires of Eagle Rock business men and residents. It was largely through the efforts of Councilman Baker that the ordinance was signed by the acting mayor as an emergency measure, to take effect thirty days from June 25th.

BURBANK PERMITS SHOW BIG GAINS

Increases Noted for Every Month of Year, Except May, Over 1923

BURBANK, July 4.—Building permits here totaled $159,048 for the month of June, exceeding by $1,763 the total for June, 1923, and exceeding by $80,648 the total of $78,400 for May, 1924. The following table gives a summary of the Burbank building situation so far this year, as contrasted with last year:

	1923	1924
January	$145,525	$233,085
February	170,405	232,286
March	167,365	293,068
April	151,965	213,745
May	318,750	78,400
June	157,285	159,048
July	101,875
August	147,225
September	181,360
October	176,200
November	235,440
December	311,875
Total	$2,265,110	$1,209,632

This showing, particularly for the past month, will, no doubt, be a great surprise to many who, while realizing that Burbank is still growing at a good rate, hardly realized that it was growing as fast as indicated by the above figures.

Mrs. and Mrs. Elijah Brown of Evansville, Ind., are visiting at the home of Mr. and Mrs. M. J. Kurten of 410 Cypress avenue. They have been looking for a suitable location with the idea of making their future home here.

Colorado to Exploit Its Arsenic Deposits

DENVER, July 4.—Colorado is undertaking the exploitation of arsenic, which has been discovered in large beds in Gunnison county. Ores containing from 15 to 30 per cent arsenic have been unearthed in the western slope county, according to H. B. Barnes, widely known Denver mining engineer, and it is believed the district contains the largest deposits of high grade arsenical veins ever discovered in the United States.

Development of the arsenic industry, it is believed, will lead to the stamping out of the dread boll weevil in the southern cotton fields, experiments having proven that arsenic is deadly effective against that destructive insect.

Fund to Rehabilitate Injured Is Promised

SACRAMENTO, July 4.—Announcement that funds will be supplied by the state for carrying on the work of rehabilitating persons injured in industry until funds can be appropriated by Congress when it meets in fall was made today by H. R. Braden, a member of the state board of control. If Congress makes an appropriation for the work, the legislature will be asked to appropriate the state's share, Braden asserted.

Deer Eat Produce In Pennsylvania Gardens

PINE DALE, Pa., July 4.—Deer, supposed to have been driven out of coal producing Schuylkill county with the Indians a century ago, have reappeared in the district and show no fear of man.

They come to farms and seek food in the produce patches of the farmers, while the latter are seeking legal advice as to their right to shoot the animals.

INDIANS LEADING PRIMITIVE LIFE

Race of Mysterious Origin With White Skin Is Found in Darien

NEW YORK, July 4.—The tribe of white-skinned Indians—a race of mysterious origin—three members of which are being brought home by the Marsh expedition from the jungles of Darien, Panama, were also encountered by Dr. Frank B. von Teuber, Austrian explorer, in the same vicinity almost twenty years ago.

"They were a sickly tribe," said Dr. von Teuber. "They used blow guns, with small arrows, for hunting, and, for warfare, powerful bows and long arrows. They still make fire by friction. They do no cooking, eating the raw flesh of birds and game."

Dr. von Teuber described the white Indians he saw as having fair hair, with the prominent cheek bones of the Mongolian. Their noses were broad and flat, and their lips protruding, more like African types. Often their skins were mottled, leopard-like, with brownish spots, he said.

Lady Cave Thinks Eve First to Use Powder

LONDON, July 4.—Did Eve use rouge and a lipstick? Lady Cave, wife of the late Lord Chancellor of England, says that in all probability she did, despite what Darwin, Wells or any other scientist or researcher may say.

"Adam may have been contemptuous of Eve's decorative article," she writes in a witty article entitled "Some Notes on Dress," "but he could not fail to be impressed by the arrangement and variety of her leaves compared to his own."

According to Lady Cave this is when women did for their complexions the reign of Queen Anne: "Cosmetics were plentifully laid on with thick red and white paint, and perfumed to keep lovers at a respectable distance, lest a kiss snatched by a forward one might transfer the complexion of the mistress to the admirer."

Border Police System Needed, Officers Find

SAN FRANCISCO, July 4.—Establishment of a border police system composed of state officers who would have federal jurisdiction in making arrests on either side of the state line is urged by the Magistrates' and Constables' Association of California in the current issue of the "Journal," its official publication.

The association sets forth that the federal force maintained on the border is inadequate and that there is an imperative need for additional guards.

Border police would be instrumental in halting the interstate transportation of stolen motor vehicles, breaking up the traffic in narcotics and in intercepting aliens smuggled across the state line, the association asserts.

The Case of Jennie Brice
Serial Story
By MARY ROBERTS RINEHART. Copyright, 1924.

CHAPTER XXXV
Here he had visited her daily, while his wife was at the theater. They had planned to go to New York together on Monday, March the fifth. On Sunday, the fourth, however, Mr. Bronson and Mr. Howell had made their curious proposition. When he accepted, Philip Ladley maintained that he meant only to carry out the plan as suggested. But the temptation was too strong for him. That night, while his wife slept, he had strangled her.

I believe he was frantic with fear, after he had done it. Then it occurred to him that if he made the body unrecognizable, he would be safe enough. On that quiet Sunday night, when Mr. Reynolds reported all peaceful in the Ladley room, he had cut off the poor wretch's head and had tied it up in a pillow-slip weighted with my onyx clock.

It is a curious fact about the case that the scar which his wife incurred to enable her to marry him was the means of his undoing. He insisted, and I believe he was telling the truth, that he did not know of the scar; that is, his wife had never told him of it, and had been able to conceal it. He thought she had probably used paraffin in some way.

In his final statement, written with great care and no little literary finish, he told the story in detail; of arranging the clues as Mr. Howell and Mr. Bronson had suggested; of going out in the boat, with the body, covered with a fur coat, in the bottom of the skiff; of throwing it into the current above the Ninth Street bridge, and of seeing the fur coat fall from the boat and carried beyond his reach; of disposing of the head near the Seventh Street bridge; of going to a drug store, as per the Howell instructions, and of coming home at four o'clock, to find me at the head of the stairs.

Several points of confusion remained. One had been caused by Temple Hope's refusal to admit that the dress and hat that figured in the case were to be used by her the next week at the theater. Mr. Ladley insisted that this was the case, and that on that Sunday afternoon his wife had requested him to take them to Miss Hope; that they had quarreled as to whether they should be packed in a box or in the brown valise, and that he had visited Alice Murray instead. It was on the way there that the idea of finally getting rid of Jennie Brice came to him. And a way—using the black and white striped dress of the dispute.

Another point of confusion had been the dismantling of his room that Monday night, some time between the visit of Temple Hope and the return of Mr. Holcombe. This was to obtain the scrap of paper containing the list of clues as suggested by Mr. Howell, a clue that might have brought about a premature discovery of the so-called hoax.

To the girl he had told nothing of his plan. But he had told her she was to leave town on an early train the next morning, going as his wife; that he wished her to wear the black and white dress and hat, for reasons that he would explain later, and to be veiled heavily, that to the young man who would put her on the train, and who had seen Jennie Brice only once, she was to be Jennie Brice; to say as little as possible and not to raise her veil. Her further instructions were simple: to go to the place at Horner where Jennie Brice had planned to go, but to use the name of "Bellows" there. And after she had been there for a day or two, to go as quietly as possible to New York. He gave her the address of a boarding-house where he could write her, and where he would join her.

It was officially stated that the Glendale and Montrose cars carried over 5000 people to Verdugo Park during the day of the Fourth.

The citizens of Glendale residing north of Broadway and the citizens of North Glendale assembled in mass meeting at Butler's hall last night for the purpose of considering the question of car service north of Broadway.

One of the latest subdivisions to be placed on the market in the near future is the property of H. T. Tucker at the corner of Stocker street and North Pacific avenue.

A good place to spend the night of July 4 is at "The Barber," Rex Beach's strong stage play being presented by Murphy's Comedians at their big tent on Stocker street, Casa Verdugo, according to Manager J. A. Menard.

The location is between Brand boulevard and Central avenue and the curtain rises at 8 o'clock. Those who wish front seats may come as early as 7:15 o'clock, he states.

This play is remembered by those who know the theatre as one of the most vital ever to gain prominence in this country. In the present instance it is excellently cast, costumed and staged and is truly a credit to its producers and to Glendale.

MALIGNED PRUNE COMES INTO OWN

California Crop Runs Into Millions; Advertising Campaign Helps

WASHINGTON, July 4.—The invincible an irrepressible prune, which has made money for professional joke-writers for many years, has come into its own, according to a report of the United States department of agriculture.

In California alone the 1923 prune crop sold for approximately $15,000,000, with considerable unsold to carry over into 1924.

The prune growers in that state have a "growers' association," which markets the product of the association.

During 1923, so the department of agriculture says, and for four years previous, the association has carried on an intensive advertising campaign, using news-papers principally.

CHICKEN REMEDY SCHEME EXPOSED

Poultrymen Charged Dollar For Ounce, Costs 25c To Make One Gallon

SACRAMENTO, July 4.—Exposure of a scheme whereby poultrymen have been paying $1 per ounce or $128 per gallon for an alleged chicken lime remedy costing twenty-five cents per gallon today was made by Professor W. A. Lippincott, head of the Poultry husbandry division of the agricultural experiment station at Davis and George P. Grey, chief of the division of chemistry of the state department of agriculture.

"This is one of the most glaring examples of fraud ever encountered by the division of chemistry," said Professor Gray. "The base of all these remedies is a lime-sulphur solution bought by orchardists for twenty-five cents per gallon. These remedies are absolutely worthless."

Orders have been issued to remove all such preparations from the hands of retailers throughout the state.

Uncle Wiggily

By HOWARD R. GARIS

UNCLE WIGGILY'S HOLIDAY
Neddie Stubtail, the jolly, fat little boy bear, shuffled in his funny way up to where Uncle Wiggily sat on the porch of his hollow stump bungalow.

"I'm glad tomorrow is the Fourth of July," said Neddie, and he turned a somersault over his funny, little, stubby tail, he was so happy.

"Oh, so tomorrow is a holiday, is it?" asked Uncle Wiggily.

"It is the Fourth of July," answered Neddie, sitting upon his hind legs. "The flags will flutter in the wind and I'm going to shoot a bang-bang gun!"

"Oh, Neddie! You wouldn't shoot a gun, would you?" exclaimed the bunny rabbit. "If you shoot a gun with gunpowder in you may get hurt or you may hurt some one. I know it lots of fun to make loud noises on the Fourth of July holiday, but shooting a gun—dear me—I wish you hadn't told me that!"

"Ha! Ha!" laughed Uncle Wiggily when the Bear was far away. "He was frightened of talcum powder and a paper bag!"

Then the picnic party had a jolly Fourth of July in the woods, and if the little worm does not stick his tail up out of the ground and tickle the birdie under the chin, I'll tell you next about Uncle Wiggily and Bunty's burns.

Husband's Version of Dual Killing Probed

LONG BEACH, July 4.—While a coroner's jury was being summoned here yesterday afternoon to hold an inquest over the bodies of Mrs. Theresa Doris and Henry D. Meyer, Pasadena millionaire, found dead in the Doris apartment, police were attempting to check the version of the killings told by Charles William Doris, wealthy realtor, who is facing a murder charge.

Finding of a small bone in the apartment near Mrs. Doris' body was believed by police to show that she was shot at close range, the bullet tearing away a portion of her skull. This is contrary to Doris' story. He claims Meyer stood some distance from his wife and cold bloodedly shot her.

In the woods Nurse Jane found a large, flat stump which, she said, would do nicely for a table. On this stump table was set out the good things to eat from the picnic lunch basket.

"Oh, what a lovely Fourth of July," spoke Baby Bunty, as she reached for a chocolate cream sandwich. And just then a harsh voice growled:

"What lovely ears Uncle Wiggily has! I must nibble them, and out of the bushes came a big black bear. At first the jolly picnic party thought it was Mr. Stubtail, the father of Neddie and Beckie Stubtail, the good bear children. But a second look showed that it was the bad bad bear, always hungry for ears.

"I'm going to take you off to my den!" growled the Bear to the rabbit gentleman.

The animal children were beginning to get frightened, but Nurse Jane acted very bravely.

Standing up straight, she cried: "Here, Uncle Wiggily, take this powder and blow that bear away up to the sky so he can't come back until next Fourth of July. Take this powder and blow him up!" She handed Uncle Wiggily some talcum powder which she kept to powder her shiny nose.

CONFESIONS OF A BABY

When I'm Hungry I Yell

In one of my last talks with time we had our little conference? That is, that we babies do not perfect and undeveloped our brains and nerves are—that they really could be called unripe; that most of the nerves in you adults have sheaths or little coverings, while ours are uncovered and these coverings are not completed until we are seven years old; and that it takes several years longer than that before our nervous systems are as stable as those of you grown-ups. It is because our nervous systems are unstable that we are so emotional—that we laugh and cry so easily and we are startled and shocked so easily.

I told you that, because of this raw and changing, growing, state of our nerves and brain and other organs, we must not be considered as little adults; but that we have to have special care and consideration (that means care of all of us, mental, physical and spiritual, of course), and that wrong conditions which would leave no impression upon adults may make permanent impressions upon us. When we have to assume responsibilities beyond our years, as a lot of children do when they have to work, or when we do not have wise restraint and discipline and careful guidance in our development, we are going to suffer, not only at the time, but permanently. Many nervous disorders of adult life are traced to errors in training in childhood. And parents and guardians not knowing these facts, are the unhappy people who are responsible.

Of course, when we are babies and young children, we show all of our emotions without any restraint. For instance now, if I am hungry I yell loud and lustily. I don't care who is present. You wouldn't think of yelling so loudly as I do when you are hungry! As we get older we also express our emotions without restraint, and we have to be taught by patience and wise discipline not to do this.

It is while we are in this growing, plastic stage that most of our lifetime habits are formed; and it is up to those who are around us to see that those habits are the right kind of habits, isn't it, Mammies? You see we don't know ourselves. We have not had enough experience in life to know what is right and best.

For instance, in this question of expressing our emotions, when something goes differently from the way we want it, and we become enraged and stamp our feet and otherwise act disagreeably, and by so doing get what we want, then naturally we think that is the way to do always, don't we? But if we find that doing these naughty things does not result in our getting what we want, but results instead in our getting a little something unpleasant in the form of wise punishment, then we realize that this emotional expression does not gain our ends, and so learn a very valuable lesson in self-control.

And, Mammies, dear, will you remember what I told you last

Readers of this column have very generously sent me the following to publish for the help of other women:

Mrs. H. A. P.: I have discovered a way to make coffee that uses only about one-half the amount of coffee grounds that other women use. For every cupful of cold water I take one teaspoon of ground coffee, rounded on top of spoon. Let come to a boil, then set back and steep a while before meal-time. I prefer the old-fashioned type of coffee pot, unless a full pot of coffee is to be made—then I use a percolator.

Mrs. C. L.: Some families demand baked beans even when the thermometer registers 90. Here is an easy way for the housekeeper to provide them: Take three cans of beans and turn them into a casserole with one dessert dish full of tomatoes and one tablespoon of molasses. Lay sliced bacon over the top of this dish and bake in a hot oven for one-half hour. We find these delicious.

HIP REDUCING EXERCISES

Joke makers have always found a good subject in hip reducing exercises. The exercises are ludicrous, the fact that a woman needs them more ludicrous still. Rolling around on the floor as a means of wearing flesh off the hips is irresistibly funny, I know, I've never done it, but I've watched it!

Here are some hip reducing exercises not quite as funny as rolling but about as good.

Stand with your hands on your hips, spread knees, raising weight to toes, squat so you rest on your heels, stand up. Repeat this and all these exercises twelve times every time you do them. Start with six times, work up to twelve, then you won't be sore and tired.

Hands on hips, revolve upper half of body keeping hips immovable. You won't be able to keep them entirely immovable, but try.

This is more for waist and abdomen, but fat hips generally mean a large waist and stomach, so that's all right.

Stand on a hassock, or a fat book, anything to raise you a few inches from the floor. With hands on hips, or if you feel wobbly, one hand out to touch the wall for support, rest the weight on one foot, swing the other foot and leg back and forth vigorously a dozen times, out to the side and back a dozen times. Repeat with other foot.

Hands on hips, both feet on floor now, bend sideways as far as possible, first to one side, then the other.

Change your style of corsets. Buy a variety that will let you strap in the hips, but will leave the waist completely free. Compressing the hips helps reduce them.

Tomorrow—Hair Tonics

Miss L. P.—You can increase your weight by drinking plenty of milk, or by taking a tablespoonful of olive oil three times a day. If you take the oil with your meals, it will be more easily assimilated.

Bobsy—Hair grows about 12 inches in a year on an average, but individual tendencies differ.

Exercise reduces the hips your hair will grow better for the extra care. After your hair is too long to look well bobbed, gather it up into a net and wear a braid around the head.

Annual yield of pike and pickerel in the net fisheries of the Great Lakes, exceeds 2,000,000 pounds.

SUZANNE ADMITS MISS WILLS GOOD

California Girl Proves All Reports of Inaccuracy Are Unfounded

By SUZANNE LENGLER
French Woman Tennis Champion, Copyright, 1924.

LONDON, July 4.—Miss Helen Wills, the American star, proved in her match against Mrs. Phyllis Satterthwaite that the accusations of inaccuracy made against her after her defeat by Mrs. Phyllis Covell and Miss Kathleen McKane in the international matches a fortnight ago, however founded on fact at that time, are no longer true.

Mrs. Satterthwaite tried her hardest, but nothing seemed to distract Miss Wills. She moved around the court demurely, like a prim little Quakeress at a meeting. She was never furried and never anxious.

Miss Wills patiently put the ball back at Mrs. Satterthwaite, finding it easier because Mrs. Satterthwaite kept pegging away at the California girl's back-hand, which, in fact, is her stronger and stedier side.

Comments Net Play

When Miss Wills came toward the net it generally finished the rally. When the game was over Miss Wills had won.

The American has a quaint habit of dropping the ball behind her gently, as if saying:

"I have done with you for the present; thank you very much for going over the net so nicely." I think I liked Miss Wills better without the eye shade she so often wears, a habit she acquired in California, where the sun is very strong and bright.

I was not thrilled by the match, which was all one-sided, but I am pleased to see Miss Wills making good. I look for a great final when the American girl meets Miss McKane.

Sees French Victory

By Vincent Richards, Jean Borotra secured for France another place in the semi-finals, where he will play against Louis Raymond of South Africa.

Rene La Coste, the strong, agile Frenchman meets R. Norris Williams, II, of America.

The semi-finals will be close, hard played matches, but I expect La Coste and Borotra to win and meet each other in the championship matches.

MANY ATTENDING COACHING SCHOOL

University of Illinois Has Enrollment of 450 for Summer Course

By WALTER CAMP

Special Correspondent of The Evening News, Copyright, 1924.

NEW YORK, July 4.—If the "young idea" does not learn how to "shoot" in big college athletic days, it certainly will not be the fault of the various coach colleges which are running this summer throughout the nation.

The University of Illinois, which really started these coaching schools, now has enrolled as actual students in its summer courses 450 men. And these men represent 38 states and two foreign countries. As the representative of the University of Illinois Athletic Association says, "the majority of these men are coaches of experience who have come to sit at the feet of the Illinois Varsity coaches and learn how they turned out championship teams."

There are probably a dozen other schools of this kind operating, and their output will be in the neighborhood of 5,000 improved coaches.

Adams and Pitcher In Hollywood Main Event

Johnny Adams and Frankie Pitcher are counted on to furnish the fireworks in the main event of tonight's card at the Hollywood American Legion stadium. Pitcher is a newcomer from the east, while Adams has a large following in Pacific coast fight circles.

Tommy Carter and Johnny Drew will mix in the semi-windup. Jimmy Lanning and Solly Seaman are billed to do battle in the special spot. Other bouts are: Kid Williams and Jack Herrick, 160 pounds; Billy Ryan and Young Nino, 118 pounds; Young Sperling and Toby Montoya, 122 pounds, and Jimmy Welch and Joe Bands, 130 pounds.

Borotra Is Winner In Finals at Wimbledon

WIMBLEDON, July 4.—Jean Borotra made the final match an all-French affair in the men's singles by defeating Louis Raymond of South Africa 6-2, 6-4, 7-5 in the British championship matches here yesterday. Borotra, will be pitted against La Coste in the finals. The Frenchman was too fast and too powerful and too clever for Raymond.

REDLAND'S CHIEFTAIN

By Dick Dorgan

JACK HENDRICKS
THE MAGNETIC MANAGER OF THE
CINCINNATI 'REDS'

When Jack Hendricks assumed the management of the Cincinnati Reds after the late Pat Moran passed on, the famous and chorus of Portkort gave him the horse laugh and said he'd better roll his hoop as he was only a minor leaguer and wouldn't do in fast company.

"He's only a small town guy; the ball players won't respect him or give him a tumble," they said. But now Jack must be giggling up his sleeve at them for the boys are fighting every inch of the way and are for him to a man.

Hendricks is a smart leader and has won the confidence of the men. He possesses a thorough knowledge of inside baseball and along with his personal magnetism, Jack has the chorus using his hoop as he was only a minor leaguer and wouldn't do in fast company.

Jack had rather run off tough luck before he signed up as Moran's assistant. He managed the Indianapolis team last year and was given the B. R. when Donie Bush and his friends stepped in and bought the club. Donie being appointed manager. He then tried St. Paul, only to learn that Nick Allen had beaten him to it. He got in touch with Bresnahan to manage the Toledo club, but Roger sold the franchise to Jos. D. O'Brien who hired Jimmy Burke to lead his men.

Jack then tried Denver in the Western league (he had won three pennants for them in 1910-13). He interested capital and made an offer for the club but got the shock of his life when the owner stated his lowest terms. He was just starting to dust off the old law books and hang out his shingle when Moran sent for him.

A good many experts and fans alike felt that the passing of Moran would spell defeat for the Reds just when they were about due to trim the Giants. But from the way the men have played under Hendricks during the first month, it looks as though he has just as firm a grip on the reins as his beloved predecessor.

Jack knows the game. He's been a player. He's a shrewd handler of men, and he's out to show the world that he's "there."

The Oaks shut out the Bees 4 to 0 at Oakland yesterday. Salt Lake gathered only five hits off Boehler, while O'Doul held the Kansans to six hits. McCarron's Homer in the first, with two on, counted for three of the Oaks' scores, while the other tally came in the eighth, when Guisto singled with McCarron on.

The Angels beat the Indians 9 to 1 at Seattle yesterday in a game featured by hard hitting. Hughes pitched for the Angels and was touched for seven hits, while the Angels got eight hits off Dell, Emmons and Jones. Dell got a home run. Dell issued seven passes and Jones walked two.

Dr. D. R. Boyd Remembers
Real Convention Feeling
Over Jas. G. Blaine

The present struggles to nominate a presidential candidate at the Democratic convention, and the efforts of the political leaders today in stimulating enthusiasm for their candidates, have served to recall to Dr. David Ross Boyd, 1010 East Harvard street, one convention, away back in 1884, when the first, real, spontaneous demonstration in favor of a candidate took place in any American political convention.

Dr. Boyd, at that time superintendent of schools in Van Wert county, Ohio, was helping the late Frank G. Carpenter to report the convention for the Cleveland Leader, and he had a seat on the platform when James G. Blaine, the Plumed Knight, was placed in nomination. Dr. Boyd and Frank Carpenter had been roommates for two years at college and were close friends, and through the latter's influence Dr. Boyd had secured a place right up close to the leaders.

Wave of Enthusiasm

"No sooner had the last words of the nominating speech rung through the hall," says Dr. Boyd, "than the convention went into a frenzy of enthusiasm, and it was real, unrehearsed enthusiasm, too, I assure you. The delegates sprang to their feet and swarmed into the aisles, with their banners dancing and rocking ahead of them, and for a period that seemed endless they marched and cheered for Blaine."

Ex-Senator Henderson of Missouri, the chairman, called for order until his voice gave out, and finally he turned the gavel over to a young congressman who soon restored the frenzied crowd to some semblance of order and brought the delegates down to earth again. That young man was William McKinley, then a comparatively unknown congressman, but a man who was destined later to play an important part in molding the history of the country.

Roosevelt Speaks

The first man whom McKinley recognized after calming the convention down was a delegation from New York, a handsome young man with his hair parted in the middle, and I learned that he was Theodore Roosevelt, another man who later bore a stirring part in America's history."

Before coming to reside in Glendale Dr. Boyd was president of the University of New Mexico. He is now one of the directors of the People's Finance & Thrift company, at 233 South Brand boulevard.

DAYLIGHT SAVING

The building of new power plants is proceeding at an unusual rate forced by the enormous increase in demand for lighting as well as industrial purposes. The reduced prices for electric light bulbs has now been placed in effect by the larger manufacturers. Engineers in commenting on the reduction, declare that it has been made possible by quantity output rather than any drop in manufacturing or labor costs.

Equipment Sales

The sale of the lighting equipment produced in this country in the last year increased 136 per cent and the improvement has continued in late months without a check. The value of the bulbs alone totaled $53,691,479 in 1923 and the number turned out this year is expected to be far greater. Farm electrification has taken marked strides in the Middle West and experimental rural lines now have been established in about 10 states.

On the Red Wing, Minn., agricultural test line, costs have been figured down to a point where the farmers on the line pay a service charge of $.60 a month and regular meter rates for power consumed. Power for the experiment is being furnished free by the Northern States Power company which, for a time, will utilize the current generated at the new plant of the Ford Motor company at High Dam outside St. Paul. The waters of the Mississippi were turned into the turbines of the plant for the first time this week and the Northern States company will purchase the power developed until it is needed by the Ford company which expects to have the factory in operation by January 1, 1925.

The great difficulty in the transmission of electric current to the farms according to William A. Baehr, general manager of the Illinois Power & Light corporation lies in the fact that it is too expensive to tap big power lines carrying from 6,600 to 200,000 volts and reduce the voltage to where the current can be utilized for the farms. "The only feasible plan evident so far," he said, "seems to be in the building of low voltage lines to the farms extending from a transformer substation in some near-by town."

The world's consumption of matches has been estimated at seven a day for each person.

is the birthday of Calvin Coolidge and if Plymouth does not stage a bigger celebration on Cal's birthday than the convention of political progressives, then we don't know Plymouth and the home town Coolidge club."

Not so calm, either, were the Coolidge boys, John and Calvin, Jr., when they realized that today is dad's birthday. They spent two days in a tour of Washington's stores for something appropriate and useful to give as a remembrance to their father.

California Fruit

Gifts, personal and official, have poured into the White House for the past few days. One of the most treasured of all that have so far arrived came from Mrs. Molla B. Pasco, a pioneer real estate dealer of Fresno, Calif., who augmented her birthday wishes for the president with a box containing twenty-five varieties of California fruit, just like the boxes presented by the Fresno Chamber of Commerce and Real Estate Board to Presidents Wilson and Harding.

Following perhaps upon the example of the president, Washington has planned the calmest, safest Fourth of July since the law was passed forbidding the use of general fireworks. Even the harmless sparklers and red and green lights which are allowed by the District of Columbia have been notable for their absence from displays in capital stores. There have been no window exhibits and even the few which are for sale have been deposited in obscure corners of the stores which stand ready to dispense them.

Graves, "including one at Long Beach, with 1600 members, others at Hollywood, Pasadena and elsewhere."

"We have also sent a telegram to the convention urging it not to take any cognizance of prohibition, the Klan, or the League of Nations, as they are all dead issues and if projected into the convention would only be used to distract attention from economic and constitutional issues of importance."

The issues listed by Graves follow:

Issues Are Listed

First—Repeal of the Esch-Cummins act and public ownership of railroads.

Second—Abolition of the tyranny and usurpation of the courts, including the practice of nullifying acts of Congress and of State legislatures.

Third—Abolition of injunctions in labor disputes and of the power to punish for contempt without trial by jury.

Fourth—Laws creating a government marketing corporation to establish a direct route between farm producer and city consumer.

Fifth—Public ownership and development of the nation's water power and creation of a public super-power system.

Wanderlust Dead

Sixth—Reconstruction of the federal reserve system to provide for direct control of the nation's money and credit, and legislation to permit and promote co-operative banking.

Seventh—International action to outlaw war and the abolition of private profit in the production of war materials.

Child Finds Nugget
In Old Mining Camp

MARIPOSA, Cal., July 4.—Six-year-old Maxine Mudgett today is worth at least $500, gained when she picked up a glistening nugget while playing near her parents' home near Sharlock, an old mining camp site.

"Look daddy, at what I have found," she exclaimed, running to her father, S. C. Mudgett.

Bank examination disclosed that the nugget weighs twenty-eight ounces, of which two ounces are quartz. The nugget has been deposited with the bank and the proceeds will be held for little Miss Mudgett to pay expenses in her future schooling.

Squabble Over Eggs
Wrecks Family Life

LOS ANGELES, July 4.—There are eighty-seven ways, it is said, to cook eggs.

Leo D. Starkey and his wife, Margaret, could not agree on any of these methods, according to Mrs. Starkey's divorce suit on file here.

He wanted them cooked one way, she another. Finally, the woman claims, Starkey threw the eggs out of the window and battled with her.

So she asks a divorce.

AUTHOR SCORES
BRITISH YOUTH

Deplores Lack of Wanderlust
And Says That Open Road
Leads to Success

LONDON, July 4.—Great Britain needs more "Robinson Crusoes" and "Buffalo Bills," if the Empire is going to continue to thrive.

Captain R. W. Campbell, well-known author, gives this warning to young Britain and its parents:

"Mothers want Jimmy and Johnny to stay at home and, by staying, endorse genteel poverty in the congested old land—and all the while the open road is the secret of success," Captain Campbell said, urging sturdy youth to serve in far-off lands as empire builders.

Going down the road to collect the unemployment dole is the prevailing adventure in England today, he added.

Wanderlust Dead

"The war has almost killed wanderlust. There is a slump in 'Robinson Crusoes' and 'Buffalo Bills.' The national nose is flattened out on the Labor Bureau window."

"If we are going to save the Empire that stuff-sub has to be blown sky-high. A nation like ours must not bend the knee to the 10 per cent 'mush' of long-haired men who grow mad on economics and get seasick on the 'Fairy Queen,' in Port Dundas Canal."

Connecticut Spending
Millions on Roads

HARTFORD, Conn., July 4.—Connecticut spent forty-six million dollars building new highways in the last twenty-eight years—the bulk of it in the last five years—and now has 1,114 miles of real roads, according to John A. MacDonald, state highway commissioner.

The nugget has been deposited with the bank and the proceeds will be held for little Miss Mudgett to pay expenses in her future schooling.

Lightning Bolt Cuts
Wide Ditches in Farm

CLARION, Pa., July 4.—A remarkable freak, the result of a stroke of lightning during a severe electrical storm, is reported from a farm not far from here.

The lightning struck and completely riddled an 18-inch chestnut tree, passed into the ground and tore ditches in all directions, giving the field the appearance of having been recently ploughed.

The ditches were from 3 1/2 to 10 feet wide and from 1 to 3 feet deep. The longest measured 500 feet.

He wanted them cooked one way, she another. Finally, the woman claims, Starkey threw the eggs out of the window and battled with her.

So she asks a divorce.
